Financial Fundamentals for Students will guide students through all aspects of personal financial literacy. This asynchronous course will explain:

- The fundamentals of personal finance (income, assets, liabilities, expenses) and how they relate to your life
- How to check and protect your credit report and credit score
- How to build credit even if you have no previous credit history
- How to create a budget that will actually work
- How to get started on a long term investment plan
- What key numbers you need to know about your student loans, as well as the key resources for finding loan servicers and negotiating payment plans
- How to get out of debt if you are already in it (and how to stay out of debt forever)
- How to buy a car

- What to look for when renting an apartment
- How to give back to your community
- How retirement accounts work and what account is right for them

Helpful tools like an Apartment Rental Checklist and a Car Buying Checklist are included with a comprehensive Student Guide to help students take immediate action.

This asynchronous course is presented by Peter Bielagus who founded the country's first financial planning firm for young people. In 2004, he began speaking to students, parents, and service members with clients including Harvard Law School, Zappos.com, and all branches of the military. Peter is the author of three books on personal finance, most recently Why Bother? How The Worst Pickup Line of My Life Changed My Financial Future And How It Can Change Yours Too. He has been featured in the Wall Street Journal, USA Today, the Miami Herald, and the PBS special "Your Life, Your Money".
